I am in full support of RM-10869. Perhaps two reasons for keeping a "healthy" code requirement in amateur radio that have not been mentioned (as far as I have seen) are: 1) for handicapped amateurs that cannot use telephony, and 2) for financially- challenged amateur radio operators who might find simple and inexpensive code equipment more obtainable.